Women pushed back to Afghanistan pin hopes on rare private sector jobs

Women pushed back to Afghanistan pin hopes on rare private sector jobs

Video file

Forced to return from Iran like millions of other Afghans, 21-year-old Fatima Ibrahimi has found a glimmer of hope working in a dried fruit factory that, with UN support, is trying to offer opportunities to migrant women who have come back to the country

PDF explicatif
Script de la vidéo en anglais
Niveau
Cycle 4
Thématique
EMC
Langues vivantes